

Philosophy

Cotswold Family Law will strive to counter the perception of lawyers as arrogant, unapproachable and unwilling to deal with emotional issues by embracing our deserved reputation for empathy and compassion. We will instinctively put our clients first and try to help in as many ways as possible.

We feel that we are straight-talking, accessible, sympathetic where appropriate and work hard to maintain expertise in all areas of family law and relationships. Knowledge is important to everyone.

Our priority is to tailor our service to meet every client's specific needs. People matter to us.

We communicate openly and honestly with everyone. We try to be as flexible as possible.

We will endeavour to give you the service you have a right to expect.